

Special RAL lacquering.

The lacquering of our aluminium profiles is carried out by means of thermoset polyester powder coating, which gives the aluminium a highly decorative finish, excellent protection against weathering and good resistance to abrasion.

The shades of the special RAL chart colours range offered by Airclos follow the process described above, giving aluminium excellent anti-corrosion and waterproofing properties, providing the materials with great longevity. Listed below are the most common lacquering options, but you can always contact us if you are looking for an option that is not listed here.
